

End User Licence Agreement: Recorded Lectures

About this licence

This user licence sets out the terms on which you may use a recorded lecture made available via the University's Replay lecture capture service (the service).

By continuing to view lectures recorded and provided by the University, you are agreeing to this user licence and its conditions.

Permitted use

All rights in a lecture made available on or through the service are reserved.

You may download one copy of a lecture for the purposes of your own private study and non-commercial research, provided:

- you acknowledge any use of the lecture in accordance with academic custom and any rules or guidance issued by the University; and
- you delete and/or destroy any such copies on the completion of your studies at the University.

You must not otherwise copy a lecture, or issue, lend or communicate any copy to another person, or make an adaptation of a lecture, unless specifically authorised in writing or permitted under applicable intellectual property laws.

Disclaimer

The views expressed in any lecture are those of the people making them, and do not necessarily reflect the views of the University.

The University does not guarantee that the service, or any content on it, will always be available or be uninterrupted. Access to the service is permitted on a temporary basis. The University may suspend, withdraw, discontinue or change all or any part of the service without notice. The University will not be liable to you if for any reason the site is unavailable at any time or for any period.

If you have any questions or concerns about this licence, please email replay@it.ox.ac.uk